

Why support Summer Stock Stage?

Summer Stock Stage relies on donors, sponsors, and program advertisers to help bridge the gap between revenue from ticket sales and participants' fees and operating expenses. Support from foundations, corporations, and individuals who value the arts and their importance to the city's quality of life and to the youth of central Indiana, enables Summer Stock Stage to produce theater of the highest caliber.

Why Summer Stock Stage?

Summer Stock Stage exists to provide theater experiences for teenage students in central Indiana. Students focus on vocal, dramatic, and dance performance, sharing their creative talents in a professionally managed and positive environment. This environment builds confidence, promotes teamwork, reinforces communication skills, and enhances self-esteem.

Summer Stock Stage draws students, staff, and audience members from a variety of backgrounds. Each season there are 8-10 main stage performances reaching over 3,500 theatergoers. In addition to main stage productions and Academy, Summer Stock Stage offers workshops and other opportunities throughout the school year.

Summer Stock Stage is a 501(c)(3) non-profit summer theater program for young performers in the Indianapolis, Indiana area.

Enriching our community through theater by inspiring young people to learn, connect, and perform.

MAIN STAGE PROGRAM

Summer Stock Stage is a community theater program for highly-engaged students in central Indiana. Each summer, students from 40+ schools come together in high-quality musical theater productions, with full orchestra, on the campus of Park Tudor School in Indianapolis. Auditions are held in the spring and are open to students who have finished 7th grade to those who have just graduated high school. Rehearsals are held in the evenings and on weekends. There is a small supplies fee, but full scholarships are available. Summer Stock Stage is committed to an inclusive casting policy. Students of all ethnicities are encouraged to audition for all roles. Internships are available for college students considering a career in the arts.

This activity made possible, in part, with support from the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

ACADEMY

Summer Stock Stage Academy is a three-week summer camp for students entering grades 2-8. Academy students learn about the broader world of musical theater and for the first two weeks meet daily with the artistic staff to learn music and choreography. The third week is "tech week" and Academy members join main stage cast members in the spotlight performing small roles in the musical theater productions. Performances are weekday evenings and weekend afternoon and evenings.
